

The Gator Games

Where the pets eat the migrants!

Florida has created a novel new type of concentration camp where it can “temporarily” imprison people being held for future deportation to old-fashioned concentration camps in shithole countries that are better equipped to deal with “the vermin” Trump and his Trumpianites wish to dispose of.

They’re calling it Alligator Alcatraz because in addition to armed guards and razor wire fences, prisoners will be deterred from trying to escape by the fear of being eaten alive by the live alligators stocked in the surrounding swamps.

Following the lead of Republican Money-Changer-in-Chief Donald Trump on how to make money with emolumental side gigs, Florida Republicans have also found a way to squeeze a profit out of this new camp, while at the same time giving a boost to the state’s flagging tourist ecosystem.

Each camp detainee will be branded with a number and shackled with a tracking device so that gamblers from around the world can place bets on which prisoners will try to escape and how long they will survive before being eaten by the alligators.

To assure there will be a sufficient number of escape attempts to keep gamblers engaged, the camp’s designers have contrived to make it as miserable as inhumanly possible. Speaking on condition of anonymity for fear of being expelled from his church, one camp engineer admitted that the design was based on the Confederate POW camp at Andersonville, whose commandant was the only rebel hanged for war crimes after the Civil War.

But the ultimate catalyst for motivating escape attempts, according to that engineer, will be the swarms of mosquitoes bred in the surrounding everglades. “We got the biggest baddest bloodsuckingest skeeters on the planet,” he said. “These migrants will be so covered with skeeter bites they’ll be getting bites on top of bites that are on top of bites... They’ll be so miserable they’ll pray to get eaten by a gator.”

A spokesperson for the state denied that Florida’s new concentration camp game show was inspired by The Hunger Games movies. They also denied rumors that the Governor’s wife’s foundation has a stake in the enterprise.

The spokesperson added that beyond the money to be made from the Gator Games, Alligator Alcatraz will also boost population levels of Florida’s most iconic reptile.

Aftermath

A federal judge ordered closure of Alligator Alcatraz for having been constructed in violation of environmental protection regulations and for threatening the fragile Florida Everglades. The Trump and DeSantis administrations have vowed to fight the order, and to come back and make Alligator Alcatraz “bigger and badder” than before. They accused the judge of being a lunatic liberal and threatened to make her the first inmate of the “new and improved” immigrant concentration camp, and promised to launch a new season of The Gator Games as soon as “that judge and her kind are all locked up.”
