

We the People are Like Jello

We the American people are like a cube of Jello
We come in many different colors and flavors
We are firm but flexible and we like to jiggle
We are healthy and go well with anything

But squeeze us too tight and we will slip right through your fingers

