

Corporal Bonespur's Big Day

Having missed out on the martial excitement of Vietnam
(Someone had to stay home and take care of the ladies)
And green with envy that he couldn't have a big military parade
Like his compatriot strongmen in Moscow and Beijing and Pyongyang
Corporal Bonespur, after being promoted to Commander-in-Chief (MAGA voters having overlooked his obvious lack of qualifications
And the way he grabbed the ladies)
Decided he should stage a lavish military parade in our nation's capital
A birthday present from him to himself.

For a mere $45 million – PEANUTS!
His billionaire friends could make that in a day – tax free!
Corporal Bonespur would show the world that he had his finger
On the red button that could launch his mighty war machine into action.

To make sure it was perfect, Corporal Bonespur became a student of history.
He spent countless hours studying documentary videos...
Hitler's torchlight parades under the Brandenburg Gate,
Mussolini's goosestepping black uniforms marching down the Piazza Venezia,
Mao Tse-tung reviewing his adoring troops in Tiananmen Square and of course,
Marshall Stalin presiding over the Mother of All Victory Day Parades in Red Square

Corporal Bonespur salivated at the vision...
America's beautiful killing machines
The most beautiful tanks and rocket launchers
The most beautiful fighter jets and attack helicopters
The most beautiful fighting men and women (mostly men)
Marching by and saluting him! Corporal Bonespur!
Perched high on the reviewing stand above a giant red banner...

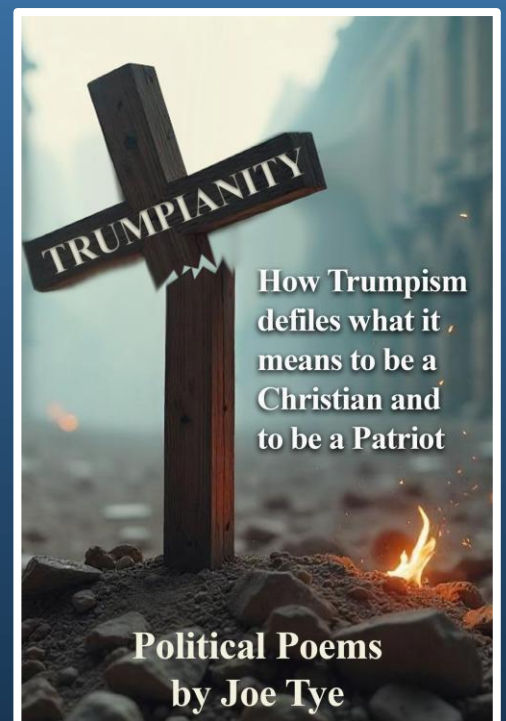

STAND BACK AND STAND BY

Corporal Bonespur smiled at the thought that
Known only to him and his MAGA2028 inner circle
His big beautiful birthday parade
Would also be a dress rehearsal for another day of patriotic love...
